Among the ladies who assisted Mrs. Fargason were: Misses Fargason, Miss Brown, Mrs. Dr. Maury, Miss, Marsh NewYork Mrs. Frazier Holst, Mrs. Maj. Edwards.

THE HIGBER SCHOOL was next visited, just as the young la-dies were in the act of filing into their classrooms from the play grounds, and the precision and order that marked the movements of this large body of young ladies, elicited high praise from the visitors. In the pri-mary room there was sight singing so excellently well done as to leave a very favorable impression on all the auditors. In the study hall the entire school was addressed by

As the party were about to leave Miss Innie Bruce advanced and, much to Mr. Warner's surprise, presented him with a magnificent bouquet, accompanying her gift with a most elequent little speech, in which she alluded in appreciative terms to "My Summer in a Garden," "The Back-log Studies," the "Pilgrim" and other works of Mr. Warner, and thanked the author for the pleasure she had drawn from their pages. Mr. Warner was apparently deeply touched, and thanked her with much feeling, taking occasion at the same time to express his admiration of the school building, its commodious arrangement and the excellent management that pravailed. He pronounced the school room he was speaking in the hand-somest he had ever seen. The residence of MS NOLAND PONTAINE was next visited, and here as elsewhere where a halt was made, the party were charmingly entertained. glasses. On a table near by was a five pronged bouquet presented to Mr. Warner by a young lady at Miss Conway's school, and every now and then his eye would rest upon it careesingly, as if in memory of the pleasant emotions experienced at the scene of the presentation

Mr. Warner said : "We haven't seen enough of the city to express tauch of an opinion for publication, but I must say we have received more hospitality to the square acre here than any piace I can now remembe. We were particularly impressed with the beauty of the acceptance of the angle onses we saw and visited and the admirable taste with which their interiors were a lorned. As for the ledies,

MORE PRETTY GIRLS today than ever b fore in any one day of my lif. We are inexpressibly of my lif. We are inexpressing gratified with our recept on here."
"Did you visit the schools?" "Yes, and were delighted and surprised by what we saw. We visited the St. Agnes Academy, Miss Higbee's and Miss Cla y Conway's and found them well ordered, admirably arranged and conducted in ac-cordance with the lates and most approved methods of instruction. What most admired was the attention paid to the graces of life, books, pictures, art works and the culture of the beautiful that seemed to prevail in the e schools. I regard these things as of the greatest value in the education of girls, and am pleased to see they are so well cared for in these part culars in Memphis. Your scho s will compare with the best anywhere. Today we will inspect the sawarage system and other points of interest." Mr. Warner is a very companionable man, as our readers dubtiess have already discovered, and the reporter left him reluctantly.

THE COTTON CROP

AS PIGURED OUT BY HILL, FOY. TAINE & CO.

The Total Yield Estimated at 6,387. 436 Bales-The Memphis Dixtrict Specially Payored.

Hill, Fontaine & Co.'s cotton crop report was published yesterday. It reads as follows: With this report we close the series furnished monthly since May, giving the condition of growing crops in this setion. During the past month the washer has materially interfered with gat bering cotton which remained in the fields, and some loss is reported from this cause. It is safe, however, to estimate that up to December 1s 85 per cent of the crop had been picked. This is more than true of the bill lands, but a larger per cent. remains ungathered in the hot-toms, and the nufavorable weather that prevailed during November re-tarded planters in this connection, and in many instances has caused a de-crease in the expected yield as pre-viously reported. The Memphis d s-trict, which comprises West Tennes-see, North Mississippi, North Arkan-sas and North Alabams, and which raises one fifth of the entire crop of the United States, seems to have bean only one that shows an increased yield as compared with last year. The outcome, however, in this district will not meet the full expectations of planters. Reveipts of cotton at Memphis are 68,000 bales in excess additional railroad facilities which have been brought about by extending lines from this city to the South and Southeast. The present crop, al hough a late one, has been marketed with freedom, and the pressing necessities for export and of spinners at home, has made a good demand for the staple at firm figures since the opening of the season. Our correspondence throughout the entire cotton belt enables us to make an estimate of the total yield of the present crop, which we place at 6,387,436 bales, divided among the states as follows:

North Cavolina 346.576 South Carolina 496 828 Georgia..... Alabama..... rennesses 306,176 Mississ ppi...... 870,312 Texas......1,451,384 Others.....

THE PRIZES AT THE EASTERN FIELD TRL U.S.

Names of the Victors and a heir Pedigrees-Another Meeting to Bugin on Monday Next.

The Eastern field trials which closes last Saturday was the largest and most successful meeting ever held. It required two tracks to run the Darby, Pointer and Setter stakes on account of the large entries in each. The Champion stake, which was to finish the meeting, had to be declared off by the judges on account of a heavy enow storm on Saturday, the day it was to be run. The great Memphis dog champion, Paul Gladetone, was to run in this stake. He was never in better trim, and the utmost confidence was felt in his ability to carry his col-ors to the front as he has so often done before.

Memphis dogs, as usual, carried off the grand honors. The all aged setter stake was won by the brilliant Bob Gates, owned in Memphis by Mr. Whyte Bedford. He was trained and has been handled in all his races by Mr. B. M. Stephenson, to whom he was presented when a puppy by Mr. W. B. Gates.

In the Derby Memphis got! a share, though not first. The winner of this stake, however, was a grandson of that grand old "King of Setters," Gladstone, owned by Mr. P. H. Bryson. The blood of this famous dog flaws in the veins of nearly every winner in field trials for the past six years. The dam of this Eastern Derby winner was bred by Meisrs, P. H. & D. Bryson, and is a Gladstone-Sne. Count Noble is the Derby winner's sire. Beed to Gladstone bitches, particularly the Gladstone Clies. ticularly the Gladstone-Clips, Count Noble has proved a great sire. renowne I Roderigo represents the last named cross. Jean Valjean, owned by the Memphis and Avent Kennel, won third in the Derby, and missed winning first, so it is confidently bewinning first, so it is confidently be-lieved, simply by an accident in the beginning of the season by which he came near losing an eye, and which deprived him of being worked on quail till only a few days before the trials were run. He was soft and weak from sickness and lack of work and without ex-parience on game (which is entirely perieuce on game (which is entirely necessary), yet he ran up to the final heat for first place, and was barely beaten, though very sore and weak from a contest he was not physically or otherwise prepared for. Should nothing befall him he has a great future and will make his mark. In the field he is simply grand, and excites universal admiration. He was bred by Dr. N. Rowe,of the American Field, Chicago, and represents a line of breeding traced out and introduced by Dr. Rowe, which, by certain com-binations of blood finally produces equal proportions of the original cross of the Duks-Rhoebe's to Laveracks—the foundation and the beginning of the Llewellins. The trials of the National Field Trials Club will begin next Monday, the 13 h instant, at Grand Junction. Full telegraphic reports will be sent of each day's races to the APPRAL. This meeting will bring together as grand a lot of dogs as ever ran. Among them will be the winners of the Western and also of the Eaghern trials. ern and also of the Eastern trials. Gen. W. B. Spattuc, president of the National Field Trials Club, writes as follows concerning the coming meeting:

"Our field trials, announced for December 6th, will be postponed to De-cember 15th. There will be a meeting of the members of the club Tuesday, December 14th, at 8 p.m., at Grand Junction, Tenn., for the election of officers, and the transaction of such other business as may be brought before the club. I have arranged with the Southern Passenger Committee to return all who pay full fare going to attend the trials at Grand Jusction, Tenn., December 13th, at one-third fare on the certificate plan. Gentlemen intending to visit these trials, and who desire to return at one-third fare, should write to B. M. Stephenson, Sccretary of the National Field Trials Club, La Grange, Tenn., for a certificate, which they will present to the ticket agent when they purchase their tickets to
